

INDUSTRIAL MARKET OVERVIEW

CONNOR KROUSE, Senior Associate

Cleveland's industrial market remains stable despite softer leasing activity. Vacancy is low at 4.4%, supported by limited new construction rather than strong tenant expansion. Although new lease volume has declined 25% year over year and many tenants are choosing renewals, positive absorption in early 2026 suggests conditions are stabilizing. Supply constraints, limited developable land, and a slow construction pipeline continue to support the market. Asking rents increased 4.3% to approximately $6.80/SF, with newer distribution facilities achieving higher rates. Looking ahead, low vacancy, constrained supply, and Ohio's growing manufacturing and logistics sectors are expected to support steady long-term market performance despite ongoing economic uncertainty.
